Teacher's Day

Last week, we celebrated Teacher's Day. It was a good opportunity to thank our teachers for their great efforts and care. That's why we organized a big party at school. We decorated our classroom with beautiful balloons and garlands. I even baked a delicious chocolate cake at home. My mother brought fresh drinks and mineral water. The headmaster also brought many presents for our teachers, and I bought an expensive perfume and a card on which I wrote:

Dear Teacher,

Thank you for continually inspiring me to do my best. You helped me strive for goals. I found friendship, discipline, and love — everything — in one person. And that person is you. Happy Teacher's Day!"
The party was amazing. We danced, ate, and drank. We were so happy, and our teachers were very grateful to us.

THE TEXT

Once upon a time, there was a young girl named Lea. She had a deep love for animals and dreamt of making a difference in their lives. Lea's mother encouraged her to help animals at a local shelter, where she could take care of abandoned and neglected animals with her friends. They were interested in feeding them healthy food, playing with them and taking them to the vet regularly. Through her fidelity, Lea not only helped these animals find new homes, but also raised awareness about animal protection in her city. Lea's story teaches us the importance of taking care of animals and being their voice when they can't speak for themselves.

Lea always says: "we can judge the heart of a Man by his treatment of animals".

Sami is a good boy. His neighbours love him very much because he is helpful and respectful. He always gives a helping hand to needy people in our neighborhood. Last Sunday was Sami's birthday. Everyone was happy for him. His family decided to celebrate his birthday at home. So, all the neighbours helped in the preparation to make him happy as he always does to others. His mum wrote the shopping list and gave it to his father. My friends and I decorated the living room with some balloons, garlands, and streamers. Mr. brown, the baker, prepared a nice chocolate birthday cake. His sister went to the mall with his mum and bought him a nice perfume and a pair of shoes. Sami is a fit boy; he likes riding bikes. Dear Ahmad,

I am glad to hear from you and to receive your e-mail. I hope you're doing great. Last time you asked me about my neighborhood. It is the cleanest place in the town. Here, we share responsibilities. Every week, a group of us goes for a cleaning campaign. We clean streets and we plant trees in the park. The people here are also nice and helpful. We share food and clothes with needy people, and we always help them. Our neighborhood is our responsibility.

What about your neighborhood?

Yours,

Salma.

Sami is a good boy. His neighbours love him very much because he is helpful and respectful. He always gives a helping hand to needy people in our neighborhood. Last Sunday was Sami's birthday. Everyone was happy for him. His family decided to celebrate his birthday at home. So, all the neighbours helped in the preparation to make him happy as he always does to others. His mum wrote the shopping list and gave it to his father. My friends and I decorated the living room with some balloons, garlands, and streamers. Mr. brown, the baker, prepared a nice chocolate birthday cake. His sister went to the mall with his mum and bought him a nice perfume and a pair of shoes. Sami is a fit boy; he likes riding bikes. My name is Karam and I love helping. Most people I work with are old people. They need help with some jobs that they can't do themselves anymore. But they often need someone to talk to as well.

Sometimes we are the only people they meet for days. They tell us their troubles and always wait our visits.

But why do many old people live alone ? You may wonder. Well, usually it's because their children moved away. Besides, they don't like to leave their homes. Although, most of them still have a family. They don't see each other very often. They might meet on Christmas or Ramadan.

I like what I'm doing and I feel proud at times.

Dear Amir(a),

How are you ? I hope you are doing well. I am writing this letter to tell you about what other pupils and I do to keep our school clean and beautiful. Well, we never leave the cleaners alone. We strongly believe that caring for our school is everyone's responsibility. So, we take small daily steps to keep it clean. Before leaving, we collect the waste, erase the boards and arrange the chairs. Every month, we organize a clean-up campaign. A first group washes the windows, sweeps the floor and mops it. A second one cleans up the courtyard and the third one waters the plants. What about you ?

THE TEXT:

This is Mary. She's eleven. She's a smart student and she lives in an apartment with her parents. She's an only child. She's a bit fat because she likes eating a lot. She wants a healthy life. So she adopts a new routine: she eats more fruit and vegetables and does outdoor activities such as running, jumping rope and going to the swimming-pool with her classmates when the weather is hot. Now she is a fit girl. Mary is a helpful person too. She takes care of everyone especially her dog. She feeds him meat twice a day. She always cleans her neighbourhood and her school. It is the first day of spring. It is the season where flowers blossom symbolizing love. Mary is excited because she's going on a picnic with her parents. In her lunch box, there's rice, bread, salad and a delicious cake. The little girl sits under a big tree on the green grass. She listens to music and enjoys the sunshine.
